In Großbritannien unterscheidet man bis zu sechs Mahlzeiten: Der Tag beginnt mit einem breakfast – meist nur eine kleine Mahlzeit wie toast oder cereals. Das traditionelle English Breakfast mit mehreren Gängen und warmen Zutaten findet man nicht mehr so oft. Gegen elf Uhr gibt es eine Zwischenmahlzeit, die elevenes: eine Tasse Tee (cuppa) und ein Gebäckstück. Als lunch reicht vielen ein belegtes sandwich. Beliebte Varianten sind z. B. BLT (Schinken, Salat, Tomate) und corned beef (gepökeltes Rindfleisch). Zum traditionellen five o'clock tea gehören ein Stück Kuchen oder scones, süße Brötchen mit jam oder marmalade. Am Abend gibt es dinner: eine große warme Mahlzeit, z. B. chicken pie, potatoes and vegetables. Als supper wird in manchen Gegenden eine kleine Mahlzeit vor dem Zubettgehen bezeichnet, in anderen versteht man darunter ein leichtes Abendessen.

7 Did you know? Haben Sie's gewusst?

A visit to Britain isn't complete without a visit to the local pub! Find out why:

The history<sup>1</sup> of the British Pub
 From about<sup>2</sup> 1500, when people went from one town<sup>3</sup> to another town, they often stayed in pubs (or public houses) over night, so a pub was like a hotel. Today you can't sleep<sup>4</sup> in pubs, but you can have drinks there, and often also very good food. Pubs often have traditional names: The King's Arms, The Bull's Head, The Prince of Wales or Murphy's Pub (in Dingle, Ireland).

---

British Pub Food
 You can find the best pub food in gastropubs. They have really good and fresh meals. You can have traditional British meals like Steak Pie, Fish and Chips or a Curry – and of course on Sundays you can eat Roast Beef and Yorkshire Pudding!
 In gastropubs you can order food at the table, but in other pubs you order your food at the bar.
 Don't forget<sup>5</sup>: You order your drinks at the bar in all British pubs, and you pay for them when you order.

The British Pub Quiz
 In 2012 there were about 51,000 pubs in the UK – and there are more than 22,000 pub quizzes every week! The quiz trend started in the 1970s. You play in teams of 4–8 people. There are questions about sport, films, history, culture ... and there is normally a prize. The teams can win free drinks or a pub meal. A quizmaster asks the questions. The team works together to find the answer, without mobile phones of course! The pub quiz is an important part<sup>6</sup> of British pub culture – and it's fun too!

- ▲ Nice to meet you too. Yes, my husband and I live in Surrey.
- Ebenso. Ja, mein Ehemann und ich wohnen in Surrey.
- Und was machen Sie beruflich?
- And what do you do?
- ▲ I'm a teacher. I teach French and Italian. But I can't speak German!
- Ich bin Lehrerin. Ich unterrichte Französisch und Italienisch. Aber ich kann kein Deutsch sprechen!
- Ich habe Französisch in der Schule gelernt – aber ich kann mich kaum daran erinnern.
- I learned French at school. But I don't remember much!
- ▲ Do you speak any other languages?
- Sprechen Sie irgendwelche anderen Sprachen?
- Ja. Ich spreche ein bisschen Spanisch – und ich spreche fließend Bairisch!
- Yes. I speak a bit of Spanish – and I'm fluent in Bavarian!
- ▲ Great! I'd love to learn Bavarian. Let's have a glass of wine and you can teach me!
- Toll! Ich würde sehr gern Bairisch lernen. Lassen Sie uns ein Glas Wein trinken und Sie können es mir beibringen!
